Actual

A woman's rights are the power, but her opinions are the sword! This is a story about a young independent woman's daily life in an oppressive patriarchal world. Call her a rebel or call her a feminist, but all she believes in is equality. She stands up for her rights and has a very strong opinion of her own. To fight for equality and understand that feminism is not just about women. It's about all genders fighting for equal rights.

CONCEPT

'I'd rather be a rebel than a slave'

She doesn't just need feminism because street harassment is offensive, embarrassing and degrading. Street harassment can quickly turn into a woman's fear for her own safety

'Women are the real architects of the world'

She is a woman who works nothing less than a man does, she can create anything that she wants!

'Equals'

All humans should have equal power, freedom and opportunity

'Our rights are not up for a grab, neither are we'

No matter how hard we are working, but we still are not taken seriously and given the same respect at work like others. But it's about time for everyone to take us seriously.

'We do as much, we eat as much, we want as much'

What does she want? Time, care, attention , and..?

'Men their rights and nothing more, Women their rights and nothing less'

All we ask is for equality and same opportunity as they are given to men. We are not settling for anything less.
